Wisconsin Council on Children and Families Holds State Budget Briefings

Local Partners Join Child Advocates in Advance of Joint Committee on Finance Hearings

Madison - The Wisconsin Council on Children and Families and local partners around the state will hold budget briefings on topics in the 2007-09 state budget that relate to children and families in Wisconsin. In addition to factual information about the budget process and an analysis of the funding and spending on children and families in the budget, the briefing will provide training on effective budget advocacy. All briefings are open to the public and will have time for questions.
